Dear Parent/s/Carer/s,

Home Learning

In this brief communication, we would first like to thank all parents, carers and children for their hard work with home learning once again this week. Teachers have been delighted with the standard of work being received as they hone their own expertise with the communication and feedback resources available to them. We know that printing can be a barrier for some, too. Please feel free to request paper copies of resources from school if that helps.

Secondly, we thank our teachers, who in ever changing circumstances continue to do their very best every day to pay attention to the needs of every pupil. We are privileged to have such committed professionals serving our community and we are proud of every one of them.

Donation

Following another large donation, this time from Somerset via Plymouth, we have a cumulative total ready to buy a further 10 new chrome books, which we will look to distribute to those in need once delivered. In addition, we are now able to buy and distribute additional food vouchers to some of our more needy families. Thank you this time to SS for your amazing generosity.

Attachments

Hot off the press are 2 papers for your information.

The first is an updated flow chart from PHE for early years and primary settings. Please note that we never take any action to close any bubble without seeking precise direction from PHE in every situation.

The second is a letter for parent/s/carer/s from Tony Hill, the Interim Director of Public Health.

We hope you find the information useful and get to make the most of your weekend as we gather ourselves for the next challenge swiftly coming our way: Covid self-testing for staff that work in primary schools.

Kind regards

M Gildea
